Woodbridge Receives $1.1 Million In Host Community Benefits From Bayshore Recycling

WOODBIDGE – Representatives of Bayshore Recycling Corp. presented Woodbridge Mayor John McCormac with a $1.1 million check in new host community benefits from the company's operations in the township's Keasbey section.

"As a company committed to doing business in Woodbridge Township, we are pleased to provide the township with this check for host community benefits," said Valerie Montecalvo, president of Bayshore Recycling. "This demonstrates our company's cooperation and long-term commitment to supporting Woodbridge as it advances its exciting development plans for the township."

Montecalvo said Bayshore Recycling is taking an active role toward making Woodbridge the "greenest" municipality in the state, noting the company is creating an "eco-park" on its property, as well as installing solar power, planning wind turbines and other renewable energy technologies.

McCormac said he is pleased to accept the check on behalf of Woodbridge, adding that corporate investment makes it possible for the township to provide programs and services that enhance the quality of life for all residents.

"Bayshore Recycling is a shining example of how a strong corporate sector can enhance a community," the mayor said. "The influx in host community benefits will be used to supplement a variety of municipal programs in our ongoing and aggressive effort to stabilize the township's tax base."

Bayshore Recycling Corp. was founded in 1995 to manage and recycle construction debris. Located on the waterfront in the Keasbey section of Woodbridge, the company has steadily expanded its environmentally-friendly services, now including Montecalvo Disposal Services, Inc., Coastal Metal Recycling Corp., Montecalvo Contracting Corp. and Environmental Soil Management of New Jersey, LLC.
